
Piercing is strongly associated with nickel allergy in the general adult population.
Some quests require heavier preparation than others.