Scratches and poor surface polishing on jewelry can increase local corrosion and metallic ion release.
Industrial floor sanders lack the nuance required for body jewelry maintenance.