

Piercing is strongly associated with nickel allergy, with an odds ratio of 5.9 in the general adult population.

The math checks out perfectly.