
The recent review reported critical nickel release by DMG screening in 31.1% of samples from North America.

The rug is ruined.