

Implant-grade titanium releases no measurable nickel into the body.
He was expecting a more aggressive metal.