

Professional piercers use hollow needles rather than piercing guns which force blunt studs through tissue.

Tools designed for attaching price tags belong strictly in the retail sector