

Only strictly certified implant-grade titanium is verified as completely biocompatible for long-term wear inside the body.
The backyard mechanic learned that tin foil makes a terribly structural spaceship hull