

Operators must perform hand hygiene before and after each procedure and after any potential contamination event.
Cursed skulls are absolute magnets for dust.