

Mechanical piercing guns are strictly limited to use on the non-cartilaginous lobe and perimeter of the ear.

The device requires extreme containment when approaching a nostril