

Petroleum jelly and topical creams must be extracted from their containers using disposable implements to prevent cross-contamination. Heavy machinery is optional for routine moisturising.