
Maintaining consistent infection control and environmental hygiene is significantly more difficult in mobile or temporary locations than in permanent studios. Suspension upgrades are hidden business expenses.