

Tissue grows through the holes in a dermal foot plate to lock the anchor firmly into place.

Hanging heavy wall calendars on the sternum proved overly optimistic.