

Dried lymph fluid forms a normal crust that should be softened with saline soaks.

Preparing miniature bubble baths for the earlobe feels slightly excessive.