

This technique uses a large-gauge piercing needle (typically 12g or 10g) to create the pocket. The 'g' stands for gauge, not the gravitational force required to push it.