

Describing an aftercare balm as healing broken skin legally reclassifies it from a cosmetic into a strictly regulated medical product.
So we are sticking with the phrase slippery skin juice