

Iron oxide pigments interact with magnetic resonance imaging fields causing severe scan artifacts and pigment migration.

The magnet always wins the tug of war