Professional studios must verify autoclave sterilization function using biological spore tests.

Fungi are the harshest critics of shop hygiene.