In the United States, only 11% of inks were labelled accurately.

At least the typos are spelled correctly.