

Skin creeps under
sustained mechanical load.

Viscoelastic tissue sheds
tension through relaxation.

Rushing the interval
tears the fistula.

og is the point
of no return.

Stretched tissue passes a threshold preventing closure without reconstructive surgery.
Patience prevents permanent structural damage.