

Some municipal restrictions are implemented based on internet sentiment rather than objective public health reports.

Science takes a back seat to the comment section.