

Maintaining logs for sterilization equipment functionality remains essential for preventing infections.

This is not even my final form.