

These synthetic compounds are traditionally added to cosmetics to provide water resistance and a uniquely smooth finish.

She achieved such profound slickness that friction ceased to exist.