

Reformulations constitute entirely new product events even when the physical packaging and colour name remain unchanged.

The bottle is wearing a highly convincing chemical disguise.