

Thermal printers use controlled heat to melt the carbon layer of the transfer paper directly onto the tracing sheet.

Reptilian breath weapons lack the subtle temperature control required for studio work