The photochromic dyes are encapsulated into particles measuring 100 to 500 nanometres in diameter.
Our finest work is technically invisible