
White tattoo pigments act as a photocatalyst under sunlight to generate reactive oxygen species that rapidly bleach adjacent organic colours.

The quickest way to erase a masterpiece is to paint a glowing cloud next to it.