

Dermal macrophages continuously sequester tattoo pigment particles and pass them on to subsequent generations of cells through an endless cycle of release and recapture.

THE MOST LITERAL INHERITANCE OF A FAMILY BURDEN.