

Red and yellow organic pigments degrade much earlier under solar exposure than stable blue or green inks.
Warm colours always leave the party before midnight.