

Common photosensitising medications do not trigger toxic skin reactions under near-infrared laser exposure.
The ultimate attack is completely useless against this specific aura