

Having a tattoo for more than 10 years is associated with an almost 3-fold higher risk of a skin reaction.
The decade of waiting for absolute chaos really pays off.