

Density remaining after 10 years.

Black ink retention is 85 percent.

Red ink reduction is 40 percent.

Repeated exposure accelerates color loss.

Ultraviolet photons fragment organic chromophores through direct bond cleavage.
Physical coverage prevents long-term fading.