

Initial piercings require highly biocompatible metals such as implant-grade titanium or pure gold to prevent inflammatory allergic reactions.

Alchemy is better left out of the healing process.