

Leaving a long initial bar in place creates a mechanical lever effect that damages new tissue.
A highly effective tool for breaking and entering.