

Guessing the incorrect thickness for a gift means the jewellery will either fail to fit or cause physical trauma.
The aristocracy eventually accepted that telepathy was a terrible sizing strategy.