Surgical steel is an unregulated term and does not guarantee that the alloy meets controlled implant-grade standards.

The master swordsmith was relegated to julienning radishes for the rest of his days.