

Niobium is noticeably heavier than titanium when used for larger body jewellery.

New accessories require significant postural adjustments.