

The complication rate for piercings through auricular cartilage is approximately 35%.

Math remains the most painful part of the process.