

As the tissue thins during advanced rejection, the skin covering the jewelry becomes shiny and translucent.
The new biological skylight provided terrible illumination.