

The body pushes rejecting jewellery toward the surface, making the metal increasingly visible through the tissue.

The local paranormal society has a prime suspect.