

Piercings placed too shallowly lack the deep tissue coverage needed for structural stability.
The structural engineering degree was completely wasted.