

Mechanical tension across a healing piercing activates biological pathways that trigger excessive scar tissue.
Easing cellular stress clearly required bringing a classical harpist to the piercing chair.