

Steeply angled piercings compress the inner tissue while stretching the opposite side.
Posture correction remains an eternal commitment.