Surface piercings on curved anatomy make perpendicular entries impossible at the entry and exit points.

Physics remains undefeated against sheer willpower.