

Piercings are controlled wounds held open by jewelry so the body must heal around them.
Infrastructure projects always require meticulous detour planning.