

Angled placements create asymmetric loading that continuously stretches dermal fibroblasts during the healing process.

TENSION DRIVES THE FIBROSIS FEEDBACK LOOP