

Contamination can happen at any point during production, storage, or distribution regardless of brand reputation.

The final boss is the delivery truck suspension.