

Certificate of analysis active ingredient specification.

Actual verified pigment load concentration tested.

Concentration mismatch found in batch testing.

System certification standard ISO 13485 requires verification.

The actual pigment load was 12 percent lower than the certificate stated.
You cannot delegate independent verification.