

Jewelry used for new piercings must be made of highly biocompatible materials to minimize allergic reactions.
The body rejects inferior tributes.