

Tools that only come into contact with intact skin require thorough cleaning and disinfection rather than sterilization.
Enlightenment is found in wiping the armrest.