

Clients have the right to watch their sterile tool packages being opened right before the procedure begins.

And the envelope goes to the forceps.